Excursions to Columbus for the G. A. R. National Encampment.

The National Encampment of the G. A. R. will be held in Columbus, Ohio, from September 11th to 15th. Extensive preparations have been made by the citizens of Columbus for the entertainment of the veterans and their friends. The prominent surviving leaders of the armies of the north will be present, and Mrs. U. S. Grant and Mrs. John A. Logan have accepted invitations.

Excursion tickets will be sold from Fort Wayne at the rate $3 15 to Columbus, from September 8th to 11th, inclusive, good returning until September 19th. By special arrangements excursionists may, upon application, have their limit extended up to and including October 20th. Persons going to Columbus can obtain definite and further information by application to the agent at station named above. d-w

Great preparations are being made for the coming railroad fair, to be given by the Y. M. C. A.

GROVER CLEVELAND.

He Accepts the Democratic Nomination for the Presidency and Handles Public Questions With Great Vigor.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—The following is the president's letter of acceptance:

WASHINGTON, D. D., Sept. 8, 1888.

Hon. Patrick A. Collins and Others, Committee, Etc:

GENTLEMEN—In addressing to you my formal acceptance of the nomination to the presidency of the United States, my thoughts persistently dwell upon the impressive relation of such action to the American people, whose confidence is thus invited, and to the political party to which I belong, just entering upon a contest for continued supremacy.

The world does not afford a spectacle more sublime than is furnished when millions of free and intelligent American citizens select their chief magistrate, and bid one of their number to find the highest earthly honor and the full measure of public duty in ready submission to their will.

It follows that a candidate for this high office can never forget that when the turmoil and the strife which attend the selection of its incumbent shall be heard no more, there must be, in the quiet calm which follows, a complete and solemn self-consecration by the people's chosen president of every faculty and endeavor to the service of a confiding and generous nation of freemen.

These thoughts are intensified by the light of my experience in the presidential office, which has soberly impressed me with the severe responsibility which it imposes, while it has quickened my love for American institutions and taught me the priceless value of the trust of my countrymen.

It is of the highest importance that those who administer our government should jealously protect and maintain the rights of American citizens at home and abroad, and should strive to achieve for our country her proper place among the nations of the earth; but there is no people whose home interests are so great, and whose numerous objects of domestic concern deserve so much watchfulness and care. Among these are the regulation of a sound financial system suited to our needs, thus securing an efficient agency of national wealth and general prosperity; the construction and equipment of means of defense, to insure our national safety and maintain the honor beneath which such national safety reposes; the protection of our national domain, still stretching beyond the needs of a century's expansion, and its preservation for the settler and pioneer of our marvelous growth; a sensible and sincere recognition of the value of American labor, leading to the scrupulous care and just appreciation of the interests of our workingmen; the limitation and checking of such monopolistic tendencies and schemes as interfere with the advantages and benefits which the people may rightly claim; a generous regard and care for our surviving soldiers and sailors, and for the widows and orphans of such as have died, to the end that while the appreciation of their services and sacrifices is quickened, the application of their pension funds to improper causes may be prevented; protection against a servile immigration, which injuriously competes with our laboring men in the field of toil, and adds to our population an element ignorant of our institutions and laws, impossible of assimilation with our people and dangerous to our peace and welfare; a strict and steadfast adherence to the principles of civil service reform and a thorough execution of the laws passed for their enforcement; thus permitting to our people the advantages of business methods in the operation of their government; the guaranty to our colored citizens of all their rights of citizenship, and their just recognition and encouragement in all things pertaining to that relation; a firm, patient and humane Indian policy, so that in peaceful relations with the government the civilization of the Indian may be promoted, with resulting quiet and safety to the settlers of our frontiers; and the curtailment of public expense by the introduction of economical methods in every department of the government.

The pledges contained in the platform adopted by the late convention of the national democracy lead to the advancement of these objects and insure good government—the aspiration of every true American citizen and the motive for every patriotic action and effort. In the consciousness that much has been done in the direction of good government by the present administration, and submitting its record to the fair inspection of my countrymen, I indorse the platform thus presented, with the determination that, if I am again called to the chief magistracy, there shall be a continuance of devoted endeavor to advance the interests of the entire country.

Our scale of federal taxation and its consequences largely engross, at this time, the attention of our citizens, and the people are soberly considering the necessity of measures of relief.

Our government is the creation of the people, established to carry out their designs and accomplish their good. It was founded on justice and was made for a free, intelligent and virtuous people. It is only useful when within their control, and only serves them well when regulated and guided by their constant touch. It is a free government because it guarantees to every American citizen the unrestricted personal use and enjoyment of all the reward of his toil and of all his income. Therefore, it is not only the right, but the duty, of a free people, in the enforcement of this guaranty, to insist that such expense should be strictly limited to the actual public needs. It seems perfectly clear that when the government, this instrumentality created and maintained by the people to do their bidding, turns upon them, and, through an utter perversion of its powers, extorts from their labor and capital tribute largely in excess of public necessities, the creature has rebelled against the creator and the masters are robbed by their servants.

The cost of the government must continue to be met by the tariff duties collected at our custom houses upon imported goods, and by internal revenue taxes assessed upon spirituous and malt liquors, tobacco and oleomargarine.

I suppose it is needless to explain that all these duties and assessments are added to the price of the articles upon which they are levied, and thus become a tax upon all those who buy these articles for use or consumption. I suppose, too, it is well understood that the effect of this tariff taxation is not limited to the consumers of imported articles, but that the duties imposed upon such articles permit a corresponding increase in the price to be laid upon domestic productions of the same kind, which increase, paid by all our people as consumers of home productions, and entering every American home, constitutes a form of taxation as certain and as inevitable as though the amount was annually paid into the hands of the tax gatherer. These results are inseparable from the plan we have adopted for the collection of our revenue by tariff duties. They are not mentioned to discredit the system, but by way of preface to the statement that every million of dollars collected at our custom house for duties upon imported articles and paid into the public treasury represent many millions more, which though never reaching the national treasury, are paid by our citizens as the increased cost of domestic productions resulting from our tariff laws.

In these circumstances, and in view of this necessary effect of the operation of our plan for raising revenue, the absolute duty of limiting the rate of tariff charges to the necessities of a frugal and economical administration of the government, seems to be perfectly plain. The continuance, upon the pretext of meeting public expenditures, of such a scale of tariff taxation as draws from the substance of the people a sum largely in excess of public needs, is surely something which under a government based upon justice, and which finds its strength and usefulness in the faith and trust of the people, ought not to be tolerated.

While the heaviest burdens incident to the necessities of the government are uncomplainingly borne, light burdens become grevious and intolerable when not justified by such necessities.

Unnecessary taxation is unjust taxation.

And yet this is our condition. We are annually collecting at our custom house and by means of our internal revenue taxation many millions in excess of all legitimate public needs. As a consequence, there now remains in the national treasury a surplus of more than one hundred and thirty millions of dollars. No better evidence could be furnished that the people are exorbitantly taxed. The extent of the superfluous burden indicated by this surplus will be better appreciated when it is suggested that such surplus alone represents taxation aggregating more than one hundred and eight thousand dollars in a country containing fifty thousand inhabitants.

Taxation has always been the feature of organized government and the hardest to reconcile with the people's ideas of freedom and happiness. When presented in a direct form, nothing will arouse popular discontent more quickly and profoundly than unjust and unnecessary taxation. Our farmers, mechanics, laborers, and all our citizens, closely scan the slightest increase in the taxes assessed upon their lands and other property, and demand good reasons for such increase. And yet they seem to be expected, in some quarters, to regard the unnecessary volume of insidious and indirect taxation visited upon them by our present rate of tariff duties with indifference if not with favor.

The surplus revenue now remaining in the treasury not only furnishes conclusive proof of unjust taxation, but its existence constitutes a separate and independent menace to the prosperity of the people.

This vast accumulation of idle funds represents that much money drawn from the circulating medium of the country which is needed in the channels of trade and business.

It is a great mistake to suppose that the consequences which follow the continual withdrawal and hoarding by the government of the currency of the people are not of immediate importance to the mass of our citizens, and only concern those engaged in large financial transactions.

In the restless enterprise and activity which free and ready money among the people produces is found that opportunity for labor and employment and that impetus to business and production which bring in their train prosperity to our citizens in every station and vocation.

New ventures, new investments in business and manufacture, the construction of new and important works, and the enlargement of enterprises already established, depend largely upon obtaining money upon easy terms with fair security; and all these things are stimulated by an abundant volume of circulating medium. Even the harvested grain of the farmer remains without a market, unless money is forthcoming for its movement and transportation to the seaboard. The first results of a scarcity of money among the people is the exaction of severe terms for its use. Increasing distrusts and timidity is followed by a refusal to loan or advance on any terms. Investors refuse all risks and decline all securities, and in a general fright the money still in the hands of the people is persistently hoarded. It is quite apparent that when this perfectly natural, if not inevitable, stage is reached, depression in all business and enterprise will, as a necessary consequence, lessen the opportunity for work and employment, and reduce salaries and the wages of labor.

Instead, then, of being exempt from the influence and effect of an immense surplus lying idle in the national treasury, our wage earners and others who rely upon their labor for support, are most all directly concerned in the situation. Others seeing the approach of danger may provide against it, but it will find those depending upon their daily toil for bread unprepared, helpless and defenseless. Such a state of affairs does not present a case of idleness resulting from disputes between the laboringman and his employer, but it produces an absolute and enforced stoppage of employment and wages.

In reviewing the bad effects of this accumulated surplus and the scale of tariff rates by which it is produced, we must not overlook the tendency toward gross and scandalous public extravagance which a congested treasury induces, nor the fact that we are maintaining without excuse, in a time of profound peace, substantially the rate of tariff duties imposed in time of war, when the necessities of the government justified the imposition of the weightiest burdens upon the people.

Divers plans have been suggested for the return of this accumulated surplus to the people and the channels of trade Some of these devices are at variance with all rules of good finance; some are delusive, some are absurd, and some betray by their reckless extravagance the demoralizing influence of a great surplus of public money upon the judgments of individuals.

While such efforts should be made as are consistent with public duty, and sanctioned by sound judgment, to avoid danger by the useful disposition of the surplus now remaining in the treasury, it is evident that if its distribution were accomplished, another accumulation would soon take its place, if the constant flow of redundant income was not checked at its source by a reform in our present tariff laws.

We do not propose to deal with those conditions by merely attempting to satisfy the people of the truth of abstract theories, nor by urging their assent to political doctrine. We present to them the propositions that they are unjustly treated in the extent of present federal taxations; that, as a result, a condition of extreme danger exists, and that it is for them to demand a remedy and that defense and safety promised in the guarantees of their free government.

We believe that the same means which are adopted to relieve the treasury of its present surplus and prevent its recurrence should cheapen to our people the cost of supplying their daily wants. Both of these objects we seek in part to gain by reducing the present rates upon the necessaries of life.

We fully appreciate the importance to the country of our domestic industrial enterprises. In the rectification of existing wrongs their maintenance and prosperity should be carefully and in a friendly spirit considered. Even such reliance upon present revenue arrangements as have been invited or encouraged should be fairly and justly regarded. Abrupt and radical changes which might endanger such enterprises and injuriously affect the interests of labor dependent upon their success and continuance are not contemplated or intended.

But we know the cost of our domestic manufactured products is increased and their price to the consumer enhanced by the duty imposed upon the raw material used in their manufacture. We know that this increased cost prevents the sale of our productions at foreign markets in competion with those countries which have the advantage of free raw material. We know that confined to a home market our manufacturing operations are curtailed, their demand for labor irregular, and the rate of wages paid uncertain. We propose therefore to stimulate our domestic industrial enterprises by freeing from duty the imported raw materials wrought by the employment of labor and used in our home manufactures, thus extending the markets for their sale and permitting an increased and steady production with the allowance of abundant profits.

True to the undeviating course of the democratic party, we will not neglect the interests of labor and our workingmen. In all efforts to remedy existing evils, we will furnish no excuse for the loss of employment or the reduction of the wages of honest toil. On the contrary, we propose in any adjustment of our revenue laws to concede such encouragement and advantage to the employers of domestic laborers as will easy compensate for any difference that may exist between the standard of wages which should be paid to our laboring men and the rate allowed in other countries. We propose, too, by extending the markets for our manufactures, to promote steady employment of labor, while, by cheapening the cost of the necessaries of life, we increase the purchasing powers of the workingman's wages and add to the comforts of his home.

And before passing from this phase of the question, I am constrained to express the opinion that, while interests of labor should be always seduously regarded in any modification of our tariff laws, an additional and more direct and efficient protection to those interests would be afforded by the restriction and prohibition of the immigration or importation of laborers from other countries, who swarm upon our shores, having no purpose or intent of becoming fellow-citizens, or acquiring any permanent interest in our country, but who crowd every field of employment with unintelligent labor at wages which ought not to satisfy those who make claim to American citizenship.

The platform adopted at the late national convention of our party contains the following declaration:

Judged by democratic principles the interests of the people are betrayed when by unnecessary taxation trusts and combinations are permitted and fostered, which, while unduly enriching the few that combine, rob the body of our citizens by depriving them as purchasers of the benefits of natural competition.

Such combinations have always been condemned by the democratic party. The declaration of its national convention is sincerely made, and no member of our party will be found excusing the existence or belittling the pernicious results of those devises to wrong the people. Under various names they have been punished by the common law for hundreds of years; and they have lost none of their hateful features because they have assumed the name of trusts instead of conspiracies.

We believe that these trusts are the natural offspring of a market artificially restricted; that an inordinately high tariff, besides furnishing the temptation for their existence, enlarges the limit within which they may operate against the people, and thus increases the extent of their power for wrong-doing. With an unalterable hatred of all such schemes we count the checking of their baleful operations among the good results promised by revenue reform.

While we cannot avoid partisan misrepresentation, our position upon the question of revenue reform should be so plainly stated as to admit of no misunderstanding.

We have entered upon no crusade of free trade. The reform we seek to inaugurate is predicated upon the utmost care for established industries and enterprises, a jealous regard for the interests of American labor and a sincere desire to relieve the country from the injustice and damages of a condition which threatens evil to all the people of the land. We are dealing with no imaginary danger. Its existence has been repeatedly confessed by all political parties, and pledges of a remedy have been made on all sides.

Yet, when in the legislative body, where under the constitution all remedial measures applicable to this subject must originate, the democratic majority were attempting with extreme moderation to redeem the pledge common to both parties, they were met by determined opposition and obstruction; and, the minority refusing to co-operate in the house of representatives or propose another remedy, have remitted the redemption of their party pledge to the doubtful power of the senate.

The people will hardly be deceived by their abandonment of the field of legislative action to meet in political convention and flippantly declare in their party platform that our conservative and careful effort to relieve the situation is destructive to the American system of protection. Nor will the people be misled by an appeal to party prejudice contained in the absurd allegation that we serve the interests of Europe, while they will support the interests of America.

They propose in their platform to thus support the interests of our country by removing the internal revenue tax from tobacco and spirits used in the arts for mechanical purposes. They declare also that there should be such a revision of our tariff laws as shall tend to check the importation of such articles as are produced here.

Thus in proposing to increase the duties on such articles to nearly or quite a prohibitory point, they confess themselves willing to travel backward in the road of civilization and to deprive our people of the markets for their goods, which can only be gained and kept by the semblance, at least, of an interchange of business, while they abandon our consumers to the unrestrained oppression of the domestic trusts and combinations which are in the same platform perfunctorily condemned.

They propose further to release entirely from import duties all articles of foreign production (except luxuries) the like of which cannot be produced in this country. The plain people of the land and the poor, who scarcely use articles of any description produced exclusively abroad and not already here, will find it difficult to discover where their interests are regarded in this proposition. They need in their homes cheaper domestic necessaries; and this seems to be entirely unprovided for in this proposed scheme to serve the country.

Small compensation for this neglected need is found in the further purpose here announced and covered by the declaration that if after the changes already mentioned there still remains a larger revenue than is requisite for the wants of the government, the entire internal revenue should be repealed "rather than surrender any part of our protective system."

Our people ask relief from the undue and unnecessary burden of tariff taxation now resting upon them. They are offered—free tobacco and free whisky.

They ask for bread and are given a stone.

The implication contained in this party declaration that desperate measures are justified or necessary to save from destruction or surrender what is termed our protective system, should confuse no one. The existence of such a system is entirely consistent with the regulation of the extent to which it should be applied and the correction of its abuses.

Of course, in a country as large as ours, with such a wonderful variety of interests, often leading in entirely different directions, it is difficult, if not impossible, to settle upon a perfect tariff plan, but in accomplishing the reform we have entered upon, the necessity of which is so obvious, I believe we should not be content with a reduction of revenue involving the prohibition of importations and the removal of the internal tax upon whisky. It can be better and more safely done within the lines of granting actual relief to the people in their means of living, and at the same time giving an impetus to our domestic enterprises and furthering our national welfare. If misrepresentations of our purposes and motives are to gain credence and defeat our present effort in this direction, there seems to be no reason why every endeavor in the future to accomplish revenue reform should not be likewise attacked and with like results.

And yet no thoughtful man can fail to see in the continuance of the present burden of the people and the abstraction by the government of the currency of the country, inevitable distress and disaster. All danger will be averted by timely action. The difficulty of applying the remedy will never be less, and the blame should not be laid at the door of the democratic party if it is applied too late

With firm faith in the intelligence and patriotism of our countrymen and relying upon the conviction that misrepresentation will not influence them, prejudice will not cloud their understanding, and that menace will not intimidate them, let us urge the people's interest and public duty for the vindication of our attempt to inaugurate a righteous and beneficent reform.

PIQUA, Ohio, has ten newspapers, and still some people over there refuse to be comforted.

JUDGE THURMAN was tendered a magnificent ovation at Newark, N. J., and made a great speech. The Old Roman is himself again.

BISHOP IRELAND, of the diocese of Minnesota, who in 1884 used his great influence for Mr. Blaine, is now heartily at work for the Cleveland and Thurman ticket.

GENERAL HOVEY declines to jointly discuss public questions with Colonel Matson, the democratic candidate for governor. This is the best possible proof that the republicans are running away from the tariff issue.

T. V. POWDERLY asserts that there are fully 1,000,000 idle workmen in the United States to-day. And yet we read in an Indianapolis newspaper that "every man who really wants work can have it at high wages under a protective system."

The Gazette insists that Judge Thurman be called home. The Old Roman may suffer bodily ills like the rest of mankind, but it is not that that troubles the Gazette. His mind is entirely too robust for the republican good. That is the point in a nutshell.

THE total cultivation in corn, wheat, rye and oats in the United States this year is about 140,000,000 acres, or nearly 219,000 square miles. This is less than half the 322,000,000 acres of public lands which have not yet been surveyed, much of which is well adapted to the cultivation of the cereals. This ought to be reassuring to the republican statesmen who see grave danger in competition with England, which is about as large as Indiana.

FROM MONROEVILLE.

MONROEVILLE, Sept. 9th, 1888.
To the Editor of THE SENTINEL:

The republicans had a blow-out last week in district No. 10, and of the crowd of 200 estimated to be in attendance, one half were democrats, with the balance republicans and a fair sprinkling of prohibitionists. After a pole raising, the meeting was addressed by Messrs. Andrews and Gladden, of Decatur, who spoke of the achievements of their party, waved the bloody shirt, discussed the tariff question, clubbed the prohibitionists, abused Cleveland's administration and urged their hearers to vote for Harrison as the champion of protection and the friend of the laboring man, when it is known that he voted nineteen times to admit the Chinese in this country as a competitor to the American laborer.

A band of music from Monroeville was in attendance. They played six different pieces, and the meeting closed with no converts made for the republicans. A SPECTATOR.

A Good Appetite
Is essential to good health; but at this season it is often lost, owing to the poverty or impurity of the blood, derangement of the digestive organs, and the weakening effect of the changing season. Hood's Sarsaparilla is a wonderful medicine for creating an appetite, toning the digestion, and giving strength to the whole system. Now is the time to take it. Be sure to get Hood's Sarsaparilla.

THE OLD CANAL.

It Bobs Up Now and Then to New Fancies—The Latest Scheme For the Old Ditch.

The Indianapolis News says:

The old Wabash and Erie canal, which has a history in the court records of the state as a monstrous fraud, again comes to notice as an unabatable nuisance and a source of exasperating annoyance to people who own property along its course. The advantages afforded by the canal in the days of limited means of transportationn have been enormously expensive to the people of the state, pecuniarily and otherwise. After prolonged and complicated litigation the use of the canal was abandoned many years ago, and it has since become simply a miasmatic channel, spreading disease along its course from Fort Wayne down to Evansville, and yet, by the sufferance or neglect of the state board of health, it is tolerated without a murmur.

When the sale of the canal bed, with a path of fifty feet on each side, was ordered by Judge Drummond ten or twelve years ago, on the suit of Jonathan K. Gapen, it was held by the court that the purchasers acquired a fee simple, although in the opinion given by the supreme court judges it was maintained by Judge Biddle that there had been no fee simple given, but simply an easement. The canal was purchased for a nominal sum by a few speculators. For a time after its abandonment in 1875 the privileges of using it as a water supply to mills and for the ice that it yielded in winter was the only revenue that it afforded, but as its condition grew worse the tolls were not sufficient to properly maintain it, and it rapidly fell into that deplorable state that is now-a-days described as innocuous desuetude. For two or three years it has really become a great nuisance, and now the farmers who own land along its course are given special cause for complaint by the receipt of letters reading something like the following:

DEAR SIR:—The Wabash and Erie canal, as you are aware, runs through your farm. On behalf of the owners, I beg leave to say that some arrangement regarding its further use must be entered into, for the following reasons. We do not desire the statute of limitation to run against us, and if you will pay a nominal sum for a lease, simply to recognize our ownership of it, we will send you the necessary papers for that purpose. Otherwise we shall be compelled to ask you to remove the fences inclosing the same and throw it out.

Very respectfully.

These letters bear the name of a man named Smith who is acting as an attorney for the owners of the canal. It is claimed that it is the intention to use the canal land as a right-of-way for a railroad parallel with the Wabash line, but it is generally believed that as a matter of fact, it is being held as a speculation, and it is necessary to retain the ownership, that it should be put to some use, in which the legal rights to the control of it are recognized, before the expiration of twenty years. The amounts that are asked for leases vary from $1 to $25, according to the willingness of the farmer to pay rather than be caused annoyance and expense by having their farms thrown open by the removal of fences. The notices that have been sent out have aroused much feeling among the farmers, and some of them have sought legal advice with a view to resisting the demands upon them. It is only along the course of the canal, from Terre Haute to Fort Wayne, that the lease propositions are being made, as below Terre Haute the land is now owned and used by the Evansville and Indianapolis Railway company as a right-of-way for their line.

Rev. J. C. Cromer led the services at the city department of the Y. M. C. A. yesterday afternoon and delivered an earnest and forcible address upon the subject of "Faith." He was followed by Dr Smith, Mr. Conrad and several others and the meeting was an interesting and profitable one.

SUBURBAN GOSSIP.

The Monroeville Breeze says:

Miss Edna Grund, who has been the guest of Miss Joe Handle, the past week, returned to her home in Fort Wayne, Wednesday last. Misses Handle and Grund visited Payne, last Sunday, in company with escorts.

T. S. Heller, George Viberg, C. and F. Gladieux, Dr. Meyers and other leading Allen county democratic politicians were seen dodging around among the large crowd, last Saturday. Some have fences to build and repair while others are only driving nails for friends who have in the past, or will in the future, retalliate.

It is strange how political office seekers now serving the people refuse to attend to their duty as sworn. A case of this sort is within our knowledge and if not attended to the young man will be surprised when he hears from Monroe township in November. Dawson and Zollinger experienced an event of this character and they are aware of the results.

A big time is expected, and they will have it, at Frank Gladieux, in Jefferson township, next Saturday evening. That young statesman, James M. Barrett, will be present and address the multitude that will be there assembled. Democrats will go from here and surrounding townships in numbers to assist in hoisting another emblem of their faith and in honor of Cleveland and Thurman.

Tragedy at Indianapolis.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Sept. 9.—William Gertis, of Oxford, O., reached this city Saturday night, and while a democratic club was passing he yelled for Cleveland. A by-stander shouted for Harrison. Gertis attempted to resent it, and was invited up the alley, which he accepted. Hardly had he reached a convenient place for the fight, however, until the stranger turned and stabbed him in the bowels, making an exceedingly dangerous injury. Several members of the club pursued the knife-user, but he escaped.

For Men Chiefly.

When your collars and cuffs are rough and irritate your flesh, when you find the fine linen eaten away in spots, displaying the coarse filling, this is the cause:—They have been washed with ordinary soap, whose cleansing properties are due to caustic soda and elbow grease; either of these will produce the above, and the starch makes them feel as if you had a saw around your neck. Pyle's Pearline does away with the rubbing, hence it saves all wear and tear in the wash. It is as harmless as the finest imported castile soap. Linens washed with it are perfectly white and last many times as long as if washed in the old rubbing, twisting, wrecking way.

Beware Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers are offering imitations which they claim to be Pearline, or "the same as Pearline." It's false—they are not, and besides are dangerous. PEARLINE is never peddled, but sold by all good grocers.

TAR-OID

NATURE HAS NO BETTER REMEDY
Than this New Compound of Tar for Wounds, Burns, Sores, Piles, Salt Rheum, Eczema, and Coughs, Croup, Scrofula, Ulcers, Varicose Veins, Bronchitis, and Consumption.

TAR-OID must not be confounded with the cheap remedies which are prepared on the theory that Skin Diseases are caused by impure blood, which is not true. They have their cause in a want of vital action in the skin. TAR-OID restores this action, hence it cures every form of Skin Disease, also sores, burns, etc. It is soothing and wonderfully healing—gratifying results follow in every case. It is harmless and can be used with perfect safety by any one. It is superior to all other remedies. There is positively nothing else like it.

TAR-OID is a sure cure for piles. It never fails. We warrant a cure or refund the money. It gives immediate relief. It is perfectly safe, yet powerful in its action.

For the Nervous, The Debilitated, The Aged.

A SAD OCCURRENCE.

A nicely dressed gentlemen was walking along the street in Detroit a few days since, and without any warning fell upon the sidewalk in a state of insensibility. He was placed in an ambulance and sent to the hospital, where, upon examination, it was found that although in apparently perfect health his system had become so reduced in tone that nature was forced to give way. Such cases are becoming alarmingly common of late, and to such an extent as to demand serious attention and investigation. People have slight headaches, but consider them as nothing. A tired feeling they attribute to the weather. Occasional pains are thought to be only colds. But without any special cause, without any definite reason, the vital power of many people becomes undermined unknown even to the people themselves, and it is only when some sudden giving way and breaking down occurs that they realize the grave danger they are in.

One of the most important things for sustaining life and energy is albumen, and yet it must be taken into the system in proper form and quantity. How best to do this has been a study with scientific men for many years, and it has always been a vexed question. Professor Rose, one of the leading chemists of America, has succeeded not only in preparing an admirable form of albumen, but in actually subjecting it to the digesting process, so that it is ready at once to be incorporated into the system. This is called Peptonized Beef, and combined with hops, is given to the public in the form of Hoptonic. We venture to say that there is no preparation of modern times that contains so much that is strengthening, invigorating and beneficial as Hoptonic. For overworked men, delicate women and sickly children it comes not only as a tonic, but as a food. It revives the life that is at low ebb.

Stimulants are injurious; adulterated and badly prepared food clogs the system without nourishing; but albumen not only sustains life, but adds a vigor and force that are simply wonderful. Few men and fewer women realize how great a discovery this Hoptonic is; but it is gratifying to know that thousands are understanding it, and taking advantage of the opportunities offered by the introduction of this great discovery, and we look for grand results from its use in the renewed life of the American people.

ECHOES OF THE RAIL.

The Day's Doings as Reflected from the Railroads and Manufactories of the City.

The Kerr Murray works paid their employes to-day.

Charles Taylor, machinist at the Bass works, is still on the sick list.

The employes of the Bass works received their monthly pay to-day.

The Nickel Plate is selling reduced rate tickets to Chicago during the exposition.

The Bass works sent out a new Corliss engine to-day for the Star Iron Tower company.

The shop clerks at the Pittsburg works are busily engaged in making out a monthly inventory of stock.

The Pennsylvania company is selling round trip tickets to Chicago during the exposition for $4.20, good for seven days.

The Grand Rapids took over one hundred people from the city this morning on the train leaving at 7:25 for the Columbus encampment.

William Rhodes, formerly of the Pittsburg machine shops, has returned from Chicago, where he has been employed for some time.

Mr. Milo Brooks, the Wabash baggagemaster, has returned from Pittsburg, where he was called a week ago by the death of his mother.

The Pittsburg brought in several car loads of excursionists this morning from the west, bound for the Columbus encampment. The Warsaw and Pierceton people filled two cars.

Mr. P. W. Burrows, formerly of the I. & St. L. road, has been elected superintendent of the C. & A. road, in place of B. Thomas, resigned. Mr. Burrows will go to Huntington and enter upon his duties at once.

The Indianapolis Sun says: "The Mahoning road, which Fort Wayne is looking for, is a very funny concern. The men work one day and refuse to move the next because they don't know where their pay is to come from. It is now claimed that on the few miles of track laid borrowed engines are being used.

The Pennsylvania people have contracted with the Brush electric light company for an incandescent light plant at their new shops in Pavonia, N. J. The plant is to consist of a five-thousand candle-power dynamo. It is understood that all the shops of the Pennsylvania lines east and west are to be provided with similar lights.

The boys at the Bass foundry tell a good joke on Dick Norwald, Hugh Beningan and Ernst Gerdom, who have just returned from the prairies west of the city, where they were on a big hunt. They had been successful in their expedition, and while they were returning home they met a mad bull by the side of a creek. His bullship started for the boys, and to escape him they were driven into the creek, where they lost their game and returned home empty-handed.

Mr. and Mrs. John Lutz and daughter, of Huntington, were visiting Mrs. Frank Zimmerman last week.

Are you weak and weary, overworked and tired? Hood's Sarsaparilla is just the medicine to purify your blood and give you strength.

KILLED IN THE WEST.

A Former Fort Wayne Citizen Meets Death on the Rail in Iowa.

The meagre details of the death of Mr. John G. Kellar, at Eagle Grove, Iowa, yesterday, by a railroad accident on the Northwestern road, have been received in this city.

Mr. Kellar was well known here and was formerly in the employ of the Pittsburg road. He was a member of the Summit City lodge, F. & A. M., and has three daughters living in this city.

We know of no mode of treatment which offers, to sufferers from chronic diseases, a more certain hope of cure than that which is comprehended in the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. For purifying and invigorating the blood, this preparation is unequaled.

Advice to Mothers.—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle. mar-17-1v

CHILDREN'S DAY.

As Observed Yesterday by the Grace Reformed Sabbath School.

Yesterday was Children's day, at the Grace Reformed church and it was observed in an interesting manner. In the morning, Rev. Zartman, the pastor, delivered an entertaining address to the children and in the evening a magnificent audience assembled to hear the concert given by the Sabbath school.

The church was beautifully adorned with flowers and the program rendered was a delightful and entertaining one.

After singing by the choir and congregation and prayer by the pastor, the following program, as called off by Mr. F. D. Paulus, the superintendent of the Sabbath school, was rendered:

Fruit offering, by the class of Miss Emma Neireiter.
Song, by Miss Laura Bradley, followed by a song from the infant class and also one by the choir.
Song, by the orphans of the Reformed home.
Recitation, by Master Freddie Vordermark.
Recitation, by Miss Josie Zartman.
Song, by Miss Emma Ersig's class.
Trio, by Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Zartman and Mr. G. O. Bradley.
Song, by Miss Ersig.
Solo, by T. W. Blair.
Song, by the orphans of the Reformed home.

After the exercises a collection was taken up, which amounted for the entire day to $32.48 and of this $10 was for the Orphans' home.

VERY PROMISING

Are the Preparations for the Coming Railroad Fair.

To-morrow a force of workmen will commence the work of placing Princess rink in condition for the coming Y. M. C. A. railroad fair, which will open next Saturday. Booths must be built for the various railroads and a number of manufactories, including the Jenney electric light works, Olds works and Bass foundry. Each one will try to excel the other in artistic decoration and stock. There will be attractions each night of the fair, so that patrons will have no cause to regret the money spent in so deserving a cause.

MUSTANG LINIMENT

MEXICAN MUSTANG LINIMENT cures all ailments of HORSES, MULES and CATTLE. Rub in!

No Universal Remedy

has yet been discovered; but, as at least four-fifths of human diseases have their source in Impure Blood, a medicine which restores that fluid from a depraved to a healthy condition comes as near being a universal cure as any that can be produced. Ayer's Sarsaparilla affects the blood in each stage of its formation, and is, therefore, adapted to a greater variety of complaints than any other known medicine.

Boils and Carbuncles,

which defy ordinary treatment, yield to Ayer's Sarsaparilla after a comparatively brief trial.

Mr. C. K. Murray, of Charlottesville, Va., writes that for years he was afflicted with boils which caused him much suffering. These were succeeded by carbuncles, of which he had several at one time. He then began the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and after taking three bottles, the carbuncles disappeared, and for six years he has not had even a pimple.

That insidious disease, Scrofula, is the fruitful cause of innumerable complaints, Consumption being only one of many equally fatal. Eruptions, ulcers, sore eyes, glandular swellings, weak and wasted muscles, a capricious appetite, and the like, are pretty sure indications of a scrofulous taint in the system. Many otherwise beautiful faces are disfigured by pimples, eruptions, and unsightly blotches, which arise from impure blood, showing the need of Ayer's Sarsaparilla to remedy the evil.

All sufferers from blood disorders should give Ayer's Sarsaparilla a fair trial,—avoiding all powders, ointments, and washes, and especially cheap and worthless compounds, which not only fail to effect a cure, but more frequently aggravate and confirm the diseases they are fraudulently advertised to remedy.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

"Nearly Everybody Reads It."

The Merchant reads the Chicago Daily News because he must know what's going on in the great business centres of the world, and he can't waste time hunting for it in a "blanket sheet."

The Farmer reads the Chicago Daily News because he makes more than $3.00 a year—one cent a day—by keeping promptly posted on the variations of the market,—he doesn't wait for the slow weeklies any more.

The Mechanic reads the Chicago Daily News because he knows that even in matters of handicraft the more general intelligence a man has the more he'll earn. The workingman can well afford his daily paper at "one cent a day."

Grandfather reads the Chicago Daily News because it gives all the news, and yet so condensed that it doesn't tire him out to read it. And then, the print is so clear.

Mother reads the Chicago Daily News because she wants to keep up with her husband in general information, and then she particularly enjoys the household hints and things of special interest to women which are in it every day.

Grandmother reads the Chicago Daily News because she still wants to know what's going on. And it's a comfort to see a daily paper in the family that's clean and pure,—one she's not afraid to have "the children see."

The Boys all want the Chicago Daily News because it gives the base ball news so fully,—to say nothing of all the other things boys enjoy. And this year even the boys don't skip the political news.

The Politician always reads the Chicago Daily News because its an impartial paper, and whether he likes its independent views or not, he wants to know the truth. He "supports" his particular party "organ," but when he wants cold facts he reads the CHICAGO DAILY NEWS.

The Girls all read the Chicago Daily News because they're specially interested in its chatty gossips about fashions and home matters, so say nothing about the excellent serial story always running.

The Post Office Review, says: "Nearly everybody who reads the English language in, around and about Chicago, reads the Chicago Daily News." Do you? Its a "short and to the point paper,"—made particularly for busy people, and it costs one cent a day. All newsdealers sell it, and all postmasters forward subscriptions for it at $3.00 a year, or $1.00 for four months. Address

Hoyt's "A Hole in the Ground" was seen at the Temple Saturday night by a good audience. There is nothing to Hoyt's work. There are two or three good people in the party and they amuse us in their specialties, not, however, through any assistance from Mr. Hoyt.

Chancellor J. F. Lang preached a very eloquent sermon at the Cathedral yesterday morning. His plea was for humility and charity in life, seasoned by wholesome Christian faith. At the close he announced his contemplated visit to Rome with Rt. Rev. Bishop Dwenger and invoked the prayerful remembrance of the Cathedral congregation and his friends, promising similar returns in his travels abroad.

Mr. Henry C. Zollinger kindly accepts the republican nomination for county commissioner. Now it is the people's turn and it is very safe to predict that they will not accept Mr. Zollinger. The republicans have nominated fairly strong men for a few county offices not to elect them, but to utilize their strength to advance others. No republican was ever elected to office in Allen county in a presidential year, and none ever will be.

Miss May Hover, shortly before her death, fell heir to a $50,000 estate in Ohio. The young lady willed the property to her father, Mr. J. V. Hover, the photographer.

At the last meeting of the First Regiment band the following officers were elected: James Conley, business manager; Samuel Talbot, treasurer; Ervin Noble, secretary; Harry Achenbach, bandmaster.

The bridesmaid and the usher have gone out of fashion for the present. Stylish weddings this fall will be so conducted that the bride and groom shall have no rivals for the attention of the on-lookers.

The Gazette published a snake story yesterday morning, the facts of which, including the names of the parties, were given in THE SENTINEL several days ago. Our neighbor does not keep abreast of the times.

The funeral service of Miss May Hover was held yesterday afternoon at the Baptist church and was attended by such a large concourse of people that many of them were unable to gain an admittance, the aisles and the rear part of the audience room being crowded with the friends of the young lady. Rev. Northrop preached an excellent and pathetic discourse and spoke touchingly of the deceased's virtues and character. A long line of carriages followed the procession to the cemetery, where all that was mortal of the lovable and beloved May Hover were laid to rest in the cold and silent earth. The following young gentlemen acted as pall bearers: Ed. Noll, Charles Kane, Louis Pape, Frank Kelsey, Wm. Buckles and Philip Hochstetter.

H. C. Moderwell Promoted.

Mr. H. C. Moderwell, chief clerk in the Nickel Plate freight office, was this morning promoted to the vacancy occasioned by the resignation of Capt. F. H. Barnard, and will assume the duties of local freight and passenger agent at once. Mr. Moderwell is well known to the citizens of Fort Wayne as an honorable, trustworthy gentleman and an agreeable business man. THE SENTINEL can heartily commend the choice from a public stand point.

"It's All Right."

Mr. W. A. Armstrong, of Toledo, was a guest of the Aveline house yesterday. He is secretary of the New York, Mahoning and Western railroad company, and said to THE SENTINEL reporter: "Our bonds have just been placed at New York, our road is beyond probability and we will at once push it to a finish everywhere. You can believe this statement."

A Serious Charge.

Alex Baltzhoover, a hostler employed by Mr. J. M. Coombs, is under arrest for burglary and receiving stolen property. He sold to Jacob Clay, a colored man, the clock recently stolen from McCarthy's chair factory on Broadway. He must account for this transaction before the mayor to-morrow morning.

JOHN M'CAIN.

He Makes a Murderous Assault on His Wife and is Held for Insanity.

A few weeks ago Mr. John McCain, the former proprietor of the "Home" saloon, came home from northern Michigan, where he conducted a small restaurant. He at once took to drinking and got down low enough to beg whisky from saloon to saloon. His spree culminated Saturday night in an attempt to kill his wife. He seized a carving knife and pursued her, but Mrs. McCain fled and summoned assistance.

He was guarded all that night, and yesterday morning went out again, returning after dinner in a beastly state of intoxication.

This led to his arrest, and Sheriff Viberg locked him in the jail hospital. He wept and threatened to take his life, begging piteously for a knife. A friend volunteered to procure a horse pistol or hoist the window for a parachute flight, but McCain was seized with a sudden longing for life and laughed as heartily as he cried a moment before.

At 3 o'clock Esquires Ryan and Harding and Drs. Dills and Sweringen were holding an inquest on McCain to ascertain the state of his mind.

Another commission went out to the poor house to adjudge Mary Klinger, an inmate, insane.

Railroad Thieves.

A stranger is locked up at the police station on a charge of breaking into a freight car at Defiance. He was locked in the car en route and arrested at this point. The railroad men belive that his purpose was robbery.

Saturday afternoon, a Wabash railway detective brought two strangers to this city and lodged them in jail on a charge of robbing a lady passenger on a Wabash train last Saturday.

It is difficult to make a charge against these rascals stick.

Beware of Scrofula

Scrofula is probably more general than any other disease. It is insidious in character, and manifests itself in running sores, pustular eruptions, boils, swellings, enlarged joints, abscesses, sore eyes, etc. Hood's Sarsaparilla expels all trace of scrofula from the blood, leaving it pure, enriched, and healthy.

"I was severely afflicted with scrofula, and over a year had two running sores on my neck. Took five bottles Hood's Sarsaparilla, and am cured." C. E. LOVEJOY, Lowell, Mass.

C. A. Arnold, Arnold, Me., had scrofulous sores for seven years, spring and fall. Hood's Sarsaparilla cured him.

Salt Rheum

Is one of the most disagreeable diseases caused by impure blood. It is readily cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier.

William Spies, Elyria, O., suffered greatly from erysipelas and salt rheum, caused by handling tobacco. At times his hands would crack open and bleed. He tried various preparations without aid; finally took Hood's Sarsaparilla, and now says: "I am entirely well."

"My son had salt rheum on his hands and on the calves of his legs. He tood Hood's Sarsaparilla and is entirely cured." J. B. Stanton, Mt. Vernon, Ohio.

GROVER CLEVELAND.

He Accepts the Democratic Nomination for the Presidency and Handles Public Questions With Great Vigor.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—The following is the president's letter of acceptance:

WASHINGTON, D. D., Sept. 8, 1888.

Hon. Patrick A. Collins and Others, Committee, Etc:

GENTLEMEN—In addressing to you my formal acceptance of the nomination to the presidency of the United States, my thoughts persistently dwell upon the impressive relation of such action to the American people, whose confidence is thus invited, and to the political party to which I belong, just entering upon a contest for continued supremacy.

The world does not afford a spectacle more sublime than is furnished when millions of free and intelligent American citizens select their chief magistrate, and bid one of their number to find the highest earthly honor and the full measure of public duty in ready submission to their will.

It follows that a candidate for this high office can never forget that when the turmoil and the strife which attend the selection of its incumbent shall be heard no more, there must be, in the quiet calm which follows, a complete and solemn self-consecration by the people's chosen president of every faculty and endeavor to the service of a confiding and generous nation of freemen.

These thoughts are intensified by the light of my experience in the presidential office, which has soberly impressed me with the severe responsibility which it imposes, while it has quickened my love for American institutions and taught me the priceless value of the trust of my countrymen.

It is of the highest importance that those who administer our government should jealously protect and maintain the rights of American citizens at home and abroad, and should strive to achieve for our country her proper place among the nations of the earth; but there is no people whose home interests are so great, and whose numerous objects of domestic concern deserve so much watchfulness and care. Among these are the regulation of a sound financial system suited to our needs, thus securing an efficient agency of national wealth and general prosperity; the construction and equipment of means of defense, to insure our national safety and maintain the honor beneath which such national safety reposes; the protection of our national domain, still stretching beyond the needs of a century's expansion, and its preservation for the settler and pioneer of our marvelous growth; a sensible and sincere recognition of the value of American labor, leading to the scrupulous care and just appreciation of the interests of our workingmen; the limitation and checking of such monopolistic tendencies and schemes as interfere with the advantages and benefits which the people may rightly claim; a generous regard and care for our surviving soldiers and sailors, and for the widows and orphans of such as have died, to the end that while the appreciation of their services and sacrifices is quickened, the application of their pension funds to improper causes may be prevented; protection against a servile immigration, which injuriously competes with our laboring men in the field of toil, and adds to our population an element ignorant of our institutions and laws, impossible of assimilation with our people and dangerous to our peace and welfare; a strict and steadfast adherence to the principles of civil service reform and a thorough execution of the laws passed for their enforcement; thus permitting to our people the advantages of business methods in the operation of their government; the guaranty to our colored citizens of all their rights of citizenship, and their just recognition and encouragement in all things pertaining to that relation; a firm, patient and humane Indian policy, so that in peaceful relations with the government the civilization of the Indian may be promoted, with resulting quiet and safety to the settlers of our frontiers; and the curtailment of public expense by the introduction of economical methods in every department of the government.

The pledges contained in the platform adopted by the late convention of the national democracy lead to the advancement of these objects and insure good government—the aspiration of every true American citizen and the motive for every patriotic action and effort. In the consciousness that much has been done in the direction of good government by the present administration, and submitting its record to the fair inspection of my countrymen, I indorse the platform thus presented, with the determination that, if I am again called to the chief magistracy, there shall be a continuance of devoted endeavor to advance the interests of the entire country.

Our scale of federal taxation and its consequences largely engross, at this time, the attention of our citizens, and the people are soberly considering the necessity of measures of relief.

Our government is the creation of the people, established to carry out their designs and accomplish their good. It was founded on justice and was made for a free, intelligent and virtuous people. It is only useful when within their control, and only serves them well when regulated and guided by their constant touch. It is a free government because it guarantees to every American citizen the unrestricted personal use and enjoyment of all the reward of his toil and of all his income. Therefore, it is not only the right, but the duty, of a free people, in the enforcement of this guaranty, to insist that such expense should be strictly limited to the actual public needs. It seems perfectly clear that when the government, this instrumentality created and maintained by the people to do their bidding, turns upon them, and, through an utter perversion of its powers, extorts from their labor and capital tribute largely in excess of public necessities, the creature has rebelled against the creator and the masters are robbed by their servants.

The cost of the government must continue to be met by the tariff duties collected at our custom houses upon imported goods, and by internal revenue taxes assessed upon spirituous and malt liquors, tobacco and oleomargarine.

I suppose it is needless to explain that all these duties and assessments are added to the price of the articles upon which they are levied, and thus become a tax upon all those who buy these articles for use or consumption. I suppose, too, it is well understood that the effect of this tariff taxation is not limited to the consumers of imported articles, but that the duties imposed upon such articles permit a corresponding increase in the price to be laid upon domestic productions of the same kind, which increase, paid by all our people as consumers of home productions, and entering every American home, constitutes a form of taxation as certain and as inevitable as though the amount was annually paid into the hands of the tax gatherer. These results are inseparable from the plan we have adopted for the collection of our revenue by tariff duties. They are not mentioned to discredit the system, but by way of preface to the statement that every million of dollars collected at our custom house for duties upon imported articles and paid into the public treasury represent many millions more, which though never reaching the national treasury, are paid by our citizens as the increased cost of domestic productions resulting from our tariff laws.

In these circumstances, and in view of this necessary effect of the operation of our plan for raising revenue, the absolute duty of limiting the rate of tariff charges to the necessities of a frugal and economical administration of the government, seems to be perfectly plain. The continuance, upon the pretext of meeting public expenditures, of such a scale of tariff taxation as draws from the substance of the people a sum largely in excess of public needs, is surely something which under a government based upon justice, and which finds its strength and usefulness in the faith and trust of the people, ought not to be tolerated.

While the heaviest burdens incident to the necessities of the government are uncomplainingly borne, light burdens become grevious and intolerable when not justified by such necessities.

Unnecessary taxation is unjust taxation.

And yet this is our condition. We are annually collecting at our custom house and by means of our internal revenue taxation many millions in excess of all legitimate public needs. As a consequence, there now remains in the national treasury a surplus of more than one hundred and thirty millions of dollars. No better evidence could be furnished that the people are exorbitantly taxed. The extent of the superfluous burden indicated by this surplus will be better appreciated when it is suggested that such surplus alone represents taxation aggregating more than one hundred and eight thousand dollars in a country containing fifty thousand inhabitants.

Taxation has always been the feature of organized government and the hardest to reconcile with the people's ideas of freedom and happiness. When presented in a direct form, nothing will arouse popular discontent more quickly and profoundly than unjust and unnecessary taxation. Our farmers, mechanics, laborers, and all our citizens, closely scan the slightest increase in the taxes assessed upon their lands and other property, and demand good reasons for such increase. And yet they seem to be expected, in some quarters, to regard the unnecessary volume of insidious and indirect taxation visited upon them by our present rate of tariff duties with indifference if not with favor.

The surplus revenue now remaining in the treasury not only furnishes conclusive proof of unjust taxation, but its existence constitutes a separate and independent menace to the prosperity of the people.

This vast accumulation of idle funds represents that much money drawn from the circulating medium of the country which is needed in the channels of trade and business.

It is a great mistake to suppose that the consequences which follow the continual withdrawal and hoarding by the government of the currency of the people are not of immediate importance to the mass of our citizens, and only concern those engaged in large financial transactions.

In the restless enterprise and activity which free and ready money among the people produces is found that opportunity for labor and employment and that impetus to business and production which bring in their train prosperity to our citizens in every station and vocation.

New ventures, new investments in business and manufacture, the construction of new and important works, and the enlargement of enterprises already established, depend largely upon obtaining money upon easy terms with fair security; and all these things are stimulated by an abundant volume of circulating medium. Even the harvested grain of the farmer remains without a market, unless money is forthcoming for its movement and transportation to the seaboard. The first results of a scarcity of money among the people is the exaction of severe terms for its use. Increasing distrusts and timidity is followed by a refusal to loan or advance on any terms. Investors refuse all risks and decline all securities, and in a general fright the money still in the hands of the people is persistently hoarded. It is quite apparent that when this perfectly natural, if not inevitable, stage is reached, depression in all business and enterprise will, as a necessary consequence, lessen the opportunity for work and employment, and reduce salaries and the wages of labor.

Instead, then, of being exempt from the influence and effect of an immense surplus lying idle in the national treasury, our wage earners and others who rely upon their labor for support, are most all directly concerned in the situation. Others seeing the approach of danger may provide against it, but it will find those depending upon their daily toil for bread unprepared, helpless and defenseless. Such a state of affairs does not present a case of idleness resulting from disputes between the laboringman and his employer, but it produces an absolute and enforced stoppage of employment and wages.

In reviewing the bad effects of this accumulated surplus and the scale of tariff rates by which it is produced, we must not overlook the tendency toward gross and scandalous public extravagance which a congested treasury induces, nor the fact that we are maintaining without excuse, in a time of profound peace, substantially the rate of tariff duties imposed in time of war, when the necessities of the government justified the imposition of the weightiest burdens upon the people.

Divers plans have been suggested for the return of this accumulated surplus to the people and the channels of trade Some of these devices are at variance with all rules of good finance; some are delusive, some are absurd, and some betray by their reckless extravagance the demoralizing influence of a great surplus of public money upon the judgments of individuals.

While such efforts should be made as are consistent with public duty, and sanctioned by sound judgment, to avoid danger by the useful disposition of the surplus now remaining in the treasury, it is evident that if its distribution were accomplished, another accumulation would soon take its place, if the constant flow of redundant income was not checked at its source by a reform in our present tariff laws.

We do not propose to deal with those conditions by merely attempting to satisfy the people of the truth of abstract theories, nor by urging their assent to political doctrine. We present to them the propositions that they are unjustly treated in the extent of present federal taxations; that, as a result, a condition of extreme danger exists, and that it is for them to demand a remedy and that defense and safety promised in the guarantees of their free government.

We believe that the same means which are adopted to relieve the treasury of its present surplus and prevent its recurrence should cheapen to our people the cost of supplying their daily wants. Both of these objects we seek in part to gain by reducing the present rates upon the necessaries of life.

We fully appreciate the importance to the country of our domestic industrial enterprises. In the rectification of existing wrongs their maintenance and prosperity should be carefully and in a friendly spirit considered. Even such reliance upon present revenue arrangements as have been invited or encouraged should be fairly and justly regarded. Abrupt and radical changes which might endanger such enterprises and injuriously affect the interests of labor dependent upon their success and continuance are not contemplated or intended.

But we know the cost of our domestic manufactured products is increased and their price to the consumer enhanced by the duty imposed upon the raw material used in their manufacture. We know that this increased cost prevents the sale of our productions at foreign markets in competition with those countries which have the advantage of free raw material. We know that confined to a home market our manufacturing operations are curtailed, their demand for labor irregular, and the rate of wages paid uncertain. We propose therefore to stimulate our domestic industrial enterprises by freeing from duty the imported raw materials wrought by the employment of labor and used in our home manufactures, thus extending the markets for their sale and permitting an increased and steady production with the allowance of abundant profits.

True to the undeviating course of the democratic party, we will not neglect the interests of labor and our workingmen. In all efforts to remedy existing evils, we will furnish no excuse for the loss of employment or the reduction of the wages of honest toil. On the contrary, we propose in any adjustment of our revenue laws to concede such encouragement and advantage to the employers of domestic laborers as will easy compensate for any difference that may exist between the standard of wages which should be paid to our laboring men and the rate allowed in other countries. We propose, too, by extending the markets for our manufactures, to promote steady employment of labor, while, by cheapening the cost of the necessaries of life, we increase the purchasing powers of the workingman's wages and add to the comforts of his home.

And before passing from this phase of the question, I am constrained to express the opinion that, while interests of labor should be always seduously regarded in any modification of our tariff laws, an additional and more direct and efficient protection to those interests would be afforded by the restriction and prohibition of the immigration or importation of laborers from other countries, who swarm upon our shores, having no purpose or intent of becoming fellow-citizens, or acquiring any permanent interest in our country, but who crowd every field of employment with unintelligent labor at wages which ought not to satisfy those who make claim to American citizenship.

The platform adopted at the late national convention of our party contains the following declaration:

Judged by democratic principles the interests of the people are betrayed when by unnecessary taxation trusts and combinations are permitted and fostered, which, while unduly enriching the few that combine, rob the body of our citizens by depriving them as purchasers of the benefits of natural competition.

Such combinations have always been condemned by the democratic party. The declaration of its national convention is sincerely made, and no member of our party will be found excusing the existence or belittling the pernicious results of those devices to wrong the people. Under various names they have been punished by the common law for hundreds of years; and they have lost none of their hateful features because they have assumed the name of trusts instead of conspiracies.

We believe that these trusts are the natural offspring of a market artificially restricted; that an inordinately high tariff, besides furnishing the temptation for their existence, enlarges the limit within which they may operate against the people, and thus increases the extent of their power for wrong-doing. With an unalterable hatred of all such schemes we count the checking of their baleful operations among the good results promised by revenue reform.

While we cannot avoid partisan misrepresentation, our position upon the question of revenue reform should be so plainly stated as to admit of no misunderstanding.

We have entered upon no crusade of free trade. The reform we seek to inaugurate is predicated upon the utmost care for established industries and enterprises, a jealous regard for the interests of American labor and a sincere desire to relieve the country from the injustice and damages of a condition which threatens evil to all the people of the land. We are dealing with no imaginary danger. Its existence has been repeatedly confessed by all political parties, and pledges of a remedy have been made on all sides.

Yet, when in the legislative body, where under the constitution all remedial measures applicable to this subject must originate, the democratic majority were attempting with extreme moderation to redeem the pledge common to both parties, they were met by determined opposition and obstruction; and, the minority refusing to co-operate in the house of representatives or propose another remedy, have remitted the redemption of their party pledge to the doubtful power of the senate.

The people will hardly be deceived by their abandonment of the field of legislative action to meet in political convention and flippantly declare in their party platform that our conservative and careful effort to relieve the situation is destructive to the American system of protection. Nor will the people be misled by an appeal to party prejudice contained in the absurd allegation that we serve the interests of Europe, while they will support the interests of America.

They propose in their platform to thus support the interests of our country by removing the internal revenue tax from tobacco and spirits used in the arts for mechanical purposes. They declare also that there should be such a revision of our tariff laws as shall tend to check the importation of such articles as are produced here.

Thus in proposing to increase the duties on such articles to nearly or quite a prohibitory point, they confess themselves willing to travel backward in the road of civilization and to deprive our people of the markets for their goods, which can only be gained and kept by the semblance, at least, of an interchange of business, while they abandon our consumers to the unrestrained oppression of the domestic trusts and combinations which are in the same platform perfunctorily condemned.

They propose further to release entirely from import duties all articles of foreign production (except luxuries) the like of which cannot be produced in this country. The plain people of the land and the poor, who scarcely use articles of any description produced exclusively abroad and not already here, will find it difficult to discover where their interests are regarded in this proposition. They need in their homes cheaper domestic necessaries; and this seems to be entirely unprovided for in this proposed scheme to serve the country.

Small compensation for this neglected need is found in the further purpose here announced and covered by the declaration that if after the changes already mentioned there still remains a larger revenue than is requisite for the wants of the government, the entire internal revenue should be repealed "rather than surrender any part of our protective system."

Our people ask relief from the undue and unnecessary burden of tariff taxation now resting upon them. They are offered—free tobacco and free whisky.

They ask for bread and are given a stone.

The implication contained in this party declaration that desperate measures are justified or necessary to save from destruction or surrender what is termed our protective system, should confuse no one. The existence of such a system is entirely consistent with the regulation of the extent to which it should be applied and the correction of its abuses.

Of course, in a country as large as ours, with such a wonderful variety of interests, often leading in entirely different directions, it is difficult, if not impossible, to settle upon a perfect tariff plan, but in accomplishing the reform we have entered upon, the necessity of which is so obvious, I believe we should not be content with a reduction of revenue involving the prohibition of importations and the removal of the internal tax upon whisky. It can be better and more safely done within the lines of granting actual relief to the people in their means of living, and at the same time giving an impetus to our domestic enterprises and furthering our national welfare. If misrepresentations of our purposes and motives are to gain credence and defeat our present effort in this direction, there seems to be no reason why every endeavor in the future to accomplish revenue reform should not be likewise attacked and with like results.

And yet no thoughtful man can fail to see in the continuance of the present burden of the people and the abstraction by the government of the currency of the country, inevitable distress and disaster. All danger will be averted by timely action. The difficulty of applying the remedy will never be less, and the blame should not be laid at the door of the democratic party if it is applied too late.

With firm faith in the intelligence and patriotism of our countrymen and relying upon the conviction that misrepresentation will not influence them, prejudice will not cloud their understanding, and that menace will not intimidate them, let us urge the people's interest and public duty for the vindication of our attempt to inaugurate a righteous and beneficent reform.

PIQUA, Ohio, has ten newspapers, and still some people over there refuse to be comforted.

JUDGE THURMAN was tendered a magnificent ovation at Newark, N. J., and made a great speech. The Old Roman is himself again.

BISHOP IRELAND, of the diocese of Minnesota, who in 1884 used his great influence for Mr. Blaine, is now heartily at work for the Cleveland and Thurman ticket.

GENERAL HOVEY declines to jointly discuss public questions with Colonel Matson, the democratic candidate for governor. This is the best possible proof that the republicans are running away from the tariff issue.

T. V. POWDERLY asserts that there are fully 1,000,000 idle workmen in the United States to-day. And yet we read in an Indianapolis newspaper that "every man who really wants work can have it at high wages under a protective system."

The Gazette insists that Judge Thurman be called home. The Old Roman may suffer bodily ills like the rest of mankind, but it is not that that troubles the Gazette. His mind is entirely too robust for the republican good. That is the point in a nutshell.

THE total cultivation in corn, wheat, rye and oats in the United States this year is about 140,000,000 acres, or nearly 219,000 square miles. This is less than half the 322,000,000 acres of public lands which have not yet been surveyed, much of which is well adapted to the cultivation of the cereals. This ought to be reassuring to the republican statesmen who see grave danger in competition with England, which is about as large as Indiana.

FROM MONROEVILLE.

MONROEVILLE, Sept. 9th, 1888.

To the Editor of THE SENTINEL:

The republicans had a blow-out last week in district No. 10, and of the crowd of 200 estimated to be in attendance, one half were democrats, with the balance republicans and a fair sprinkling of prohibitionists. After a pole raising, the meeting was addressed by Messrs. Andrews and Gladden, of Decatur, who spoke of the achievements of their party, waved the bloody shirt, discussed the tariff question, clubbed the prohibitionists, abused Cleveland's administration and urged their hearers to vote for Harrison as the champion of protection and the friend of the laboring man, when it is known that he voted nineteen times to admit the Chinese in this country as a competitor to the American laborer.

A band of music from Monroeville was in attendance. They played six different pieces, and the meeting closed with no converts made for the republicans. A SPECTATOR.

THE OLD CANAL.

It Bobs Up Now and Then to New Fancies—The Latest Scheme For the Old Ditch.

The Indiahapolis News says:

The old Wabash and Erie canal, which has a history in the court records of the state as a monstrous fraud, again comes to notice as an unabatable nuisance and a source of exasperating annoyance to people who own property along its course. The advantages afforded by the canal in the days of limited means of transportation have been enormously expensive to the people of the state, pecuniarily and otherwise. After prolonged and complicated litigation the use of the canal was abandoned many years ago, and it has since become simply a miasmatic channel, spreading disease along its course from Fort Wayne down to Evansville, and yet, by the sufferance or neglect of the state board of health, it is tolerated without a murmur.

When the sale of the canal bed, with a path of fifty feet on each side, was ordered by Judge Drummond ten or twelve years ago, on the suit of Jonathan K. Gapen, it was held by the court that the purchasers acquired a fee simple, although in the opinion given by the supreme court judges it was maintained by Judge Biddle that there had been no fee simple given, but simply an easement. The canal was purchased for a nominal sum by a few speculators. For a time after its abandonment in 1875 the privileges of using it as a water supply to mills and for the ice that it yielded in winter was the only revenue that it afforded, but as its condition grew worse the tolls were not sufficient to properly maintain it, and it rapidly fell into that deplorable state that is now-a-days described as innocuous desuetude. For two or three years it has really become a great nuisance, and now the farmers who own land along its course are given special cause for complaint by the receipt of letters reading something like the following:

DEAR SIR:—The Wabash and Erie canal, as you are aware, runs through your farm. On behalf of the owners, I beg leave to say that some arrangement regarding its further use must be entered into, for the following reasons. We do not desire the statute of limitation to run against us, and if you will pay a nominal sum for a lease, simply to recognize our ownership of it, we will send you the necessary papers for that purpose. Otherwise we shall be compelled to ask you to remove the fences inclosing the same and throw it out.

Very respectfully.

These letters bear the name of a man named Smith who is acting as an attorney for the owners of the canal. It is claimed that it is the intention to use the canal land as a right-of-way for a railroad parallel with the Wabash line, but it is generally believed that as a matter of fact, it is being held as a speculation, and it is necessary to retain the ownership, that it should be put to some use, in which the legal rights to the control of it are recognized, before the expiration of twenty years. The amounts that are asked for leases vary from $1 to $25, according to the willingness of the farmer to pay rather than be caused annoyance and expense by having their farms thrown open by the removal of fences. The notices that have been sent out have aroused much feeling among the farmers, and some of them have sought legal advice with a view to resisting the demands upon them. It is only along the course of the canal, from Terre Haute to Fort Wayne, that the lease propositions are being made, as below Terre Haute the land is now owned and used by the Evansville and Indianapolis Railway company as a right-of-way for their line.

Rev. J. C. Cromer led the services at the city department of the Y. M. C. A. yesterday afternoon and delivered an earnest and forcible address upon the subject of "Faith." He was followed by Dr. Smith, Mr. Conrad and several others and the meeting was an interesting and profitable one.

SUBURBAN GOSSIP.

The Monroeville Breeze says:

Miss Edna Grund, who has been the guest of Miss Joe Handle, the past week, returned to her home in Fort Wayne, Wednesday last. Misses Handle and Grund visited Payne, last Sunday, in company with escorts.

T. S. Heller, George Viberg, C. and F. Gladieux, Dr. Meyers and other leading Allen county democratic politicians were seen dodging around among the large crowd, last Saturday. Some have fences to build and repair while others are only driving nails for friends who have in the past, or will in the future, retalliate.

It is strange how political office seekers now serving the people refuse to attend to their duty as sworn. A case of this sort is within our knowledge and if not attended to the young man will be surprised when he hears from Monroe township in November. Dawson and Zollinger experienced an event of this character and they are aware of the results.

A big time is expected, and they will have it, at Frank Gladieux, in Jefferson township, next Saturday evening. That young statesman, James M. Barrett, will be present and address the multitude that will be there assembled. Democrats will go from here and surrounding townships in numbers to assist in hoisting another emblem of their faith and in honor of Cleveland and Thurman.

Tragedy at Indianapolis.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Sept. 9.—William Gertis, of Oxford, O., reached this city Saturday night, and while a democratic club was passing he yelled for Cleveland. A by-stander shouted for Harrison. Gertis attempted to resent it, and was invited up the alley, which he accepted. Hardly had he reached a convenient place for the fight, however, until the stranger turned and stabbed him in the bowels, making an exceedingly dangerous injury. Several members of the club pursued the knife-user, but he escaped.

Youngest Enlisted Soldier.

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, Sept. 10.—Mr. Eli Wright, residing here, has received a transcript from the records in Washington, showing that he was the youngest enlisted soldier in the rebellion on the Union side, enlisting when he was twelve years and one month old.

AN ENTIRE Bed-room Suite! FOR $20.

Bedsteads of one style, bureaus of another, and washstands of another, never make an attractive looking bedroom.

An entire Bed-room Suite to match is what you ought to have.

We have just made a very large purchase of a neat style Bed-room Suite, finished Antique Oak, Natural Cherry, Mahogany or Walnut, which, just to have a little fun, we have marked to sell at the unheard of price of

TWENTY DOLLARS!

JUST THINK OF THAT.

Before we brought down the price of Furniture, you used to have to pay that much for a Dresser alone.

Ten Bed-room Sets, with Large Bevel Edge Mirrors in the Dressers, finished either in Mahogany, Cherry or Oak, for $25.

These Suites would be Cheap at $40, and you cannot buy them for less anywhere else in the city.

Ten Solid Walnut Suites, Oil Finish, very carefully made, $25 each.

Suppose you try to buy a Solid Walnut Suite at $25 anywhere else. It will be the best way for you to form a correct idea of how fearfully cheap we sell goods.

One hundred other Bed-room Suites equally as cheap in proportion.

For Men Chiefly.

When your collars and cuffs are rough and irritate your flesh, when you find the fine linen eaten away in spots, displaying the coarse filling, this is the cause:—They have been washed with ordinary soap, whose cleansing properties are due to caustic soda and elbow grease; either of these will produce the above, and the starch makes them feel as if you had a saw around your neck. Pyle's Pearline does away with the rubbing, hence it saves all wear and tear in the wash. It is as harmless as the finest imported castile soap. Linens washed with it are perfectly white and last many times as long as if washed in the old rubbing, twisting, wrecking way.

Beware

Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers are offering imitations which they claim to be Pearline, or "the same as Pearline." It's false—they are not, and besides are dangerous. PEARLINE is never peddled, but sold by all good grocers.

TAR-OID

NATURE HAS NO BETTER REMEDY

Than this New Compound of Tar for

Wounds, Burns, Sores, Piles, Salt Rheum, Eczema, and Coughs, Croup, Scrofula, Ulcers, Varicose Veins, Bronchitis, and Consumption.

TAR-OID must not be confounded with the cheap remedies which are prepared on the theory that Skin Disease are caused by impure blood, which is not true. They have their cause in a want of vital action in the skin. TAR-OID restores this action, hence it cures every form of Skin Disease, sores, scurvy, etc. It is soothing and wonderfully healing—gratifying results follow in every case. It is harmless and can be used with perfect safety by any one. It is superior to all other remedies. There is positively nothing else like it.
TAR-OID is a sure cure for piles. It never fails. We warrant a cure or refund the money. It gives immediate relief. It is perfectly safe, yet powerful in its action.

A SAD OCCURRENCE.

A nicely dressed gentlemen was walking along the street in Detroit a few days since, and without any warning fell upon the sidewalk in a state of insensibility. He was placed in an ambulance and sent to the hospital, where, upon examination, it was found that although in apparently perfect health his system had become so reduced in tone that nature was forced to give way. Such cases are becoming alarmingly common of late, and to such an extent as to demand serious attention and investigation. People have slight headaches, but consider them as nothing. A tired feeling they attribute to the weather. Occasional pains are thought to be only colds. But without any special cause, without any definite reason, the vital power of many people becomes undermined, unknown even to the people themselves, and it is only when some sudden giving way and breaking down occurs that they realize the grave danger they are in.

One of the most important things for sustaining life and energy is albumen, and yet it must be taken into the system in proper form and quantity. How best to do this has been a study with scientific men for many years, and it has always been a vexed question. Professor Rose, one of the leading chemists of America, has succeeded not only in preparing an admirable form of albumen, but in actually subjecting it to the digesting process, so that it is ready at once to be incorporated into the system. This is called Peptonized Beef, and combined with hops, is given to the public in the form of Hoptonic. We venture to say that there is no preparation of modern times that contains so much that is strengthening, invigorating and beneficial as Hoptonic. For overworked men, delicate women and sickly children it comes not only as a tonic, but as a food. It revives the life that is at low ebb.

Stimulants are injurious; adulterated and badly prepared food clogs the system without nourishing; but albumen not only sustains life, but adds a vigor and force that are simply wonderful. Few men and fewer women realize how great a discovery this Hoptonic is; but it is gratifying to know that thousands are understanding it, and taking advantage of the opportunities offered by the introduction of this great discovery, and we look for grand results from its use in the renewed life of the American people.

CHILDREN'S DAY.

As Observed Yesterday by the Grace Reformed Sabbath School.

Yesterday was Children's day, at the Grace Reformed church and it was observed in an interesting manner. In the morning, Rev. Zartman, the pastor, delivered an entertaining address to the children and in the evening a magnificent audience assembled to hear the concert given by the Sabbath school.

The church was beautifully adorned with flowers and the program rendered was a delightful and entertaining one.

After singing by the choir and congregation and prayer by the pastor, the following program, as called off by Mr. F. D. Paulus, the superintendent of the Sabbath school, was rendered:

Fruit offering, by the class of Miss Emma Neireiter.

Song, by Miss Laura Bradley, followed by a song from the infant class and also one by the choir.

Song, by the orphans of the Reformed home.

Recitation, by Master Freddie Vordermark.

Recitation, by Miss Josie Zartman.

Song, by Miss Emma Ensig's class.

Trio, by Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Zartman and Mr. G. O. Bradley.

Song, by Miss Ensig.

Solo, by T. W. Blair.

Song, by the orphans of the Reformed home.

After the exercises a collection was taken up, which amounted for the entire day to $32.48 and of this $10 was for the Orphans' home.

VERY PROMISING

Are the Preparations for the Coming Railroad Fair.

To-morrow a force of workmen will commence the work of placing Princess rink in condition for the coming T. M. C. A. railroad fair, which will open next Saturday. Booths must be built for the various railroads and a number of manufactories, including the Jenney electric light works, Olds works and Bass foundry. Each one will try to excel the other in artistic decoration and stock. There will be attractions each night of the fair, so that patrons will have no cause to regret the money spent in so deserving a cause.

ECHOES OF THE RAIL.

The Day's Doings as Reflected from the Railroads and Manufactories of the City.

The Kerr Murray works paid their employes to-day.

Charles Taylor, machinist at the Bass works, is still on the sick list.

The employes of the Bass works received their monthly pay to-day.

The Nickel Plate is selling reduced rate tickets to Chicago during the exposition.

The Bass works sent out a new Corliss engine to-day for the Star Iron Tower company.

The shop clerks at the Pittsburg works are busily engaged in making out a monthly inventory of stock.

The Pennsylvania company is selling round trip tickets to Chicago during the exposition for $4.20, good for seven days.

The Grand Rapids took over one hundred people from the city this morning on the train leaving at 7:25 for the Columbus encampment.

William Rhodes, formerly of the Pittsburg machine shops, has returned from Chicago, where he has been employed for some time.

Mr. Milo Brooks, the Wabash baggagemaster, has returned from Pittsburg, where he was called a week ago by the death of his mother.

The Pittsburg brought in several car loads of excursionists this morning from the west, bound for the Columbus encampment. The Warsaw and Pierceton people filled two cars.

Mr. P. W. Barrows, formerly of the I. & St. L. road, has been elected superintendent of the C. & A. road, in place of B. Thomas, resigned. Mr. Barrows will go to Huntington and enter upon his duties at once.

The Indianapolis Sun says: "The Mahoning road, which Fort Wayne is looking for, is a very funny concern. The men work one day and refuse to move the next because they don't know where their pay is to come from. It is now claimed that on the few miles of track laid borrowed engines are being used.

The Pennsylvania people have contracted with the Brush electric light company for an incandescent light plant at their new shops in Pavonia, N. J. The plant is to consist of a five-thousand candle-power dynamo. It is understood that all the shops of the Pennsylvania lines east and west are to be provided with similar lights.

The boys at the Bass foundry tell a good joke on Dick Norwald, Hugh Beningan and Ernst Gerdom, who have just returned from the prairies west of the city, where they were on a big hunt. They had been successful in their expedition, and while they were returning home they met a mad bull by the side of a creek. His bullship started for the boys, and to escape him they were driven into the creek, where they lost their game and returned home empty-handed.

Mr. and Mrs. John Lutz and daughter, of Huntington, were visiting Mrs. Frank Zimmerman last week.

Are you weak and weary, overworked and tired? Hood's Sarsaparilla is just the medicine to purify your blood and give you strength.

KILLED IN THE WEST.

A Former Fort Wayne Citizen Meets Death on the Rail in Iowa.

The meagre details of the death of Mr. John G. Kellar, at Eagle Grove, Iowa, yesterday, by a railroad accident on the Northwestern road, have been received in this city.

Mr. Kellar was well known here and was formerly in the employ of the Pittsburg road. He was a member of the Summit City lodge, F. & A. M., and has three daughters living in this city.

We know of no mode of treatment which offers, to sufferers from chronic diseases, a more certain hope of cure than that which is comprehended in the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. For purifying and invigorating the blood, this preparation is unequaled.

Advice to Mothers.—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle. mar-17-1v

I have just used three bottles of Vinegar Bitters, and it has done me more good than the Springs. It is the best medicine made."

JOSEPH J. EAGAN, of No. 75 West st., New York says: "Have not been without Vinegar Bitters for the past twelve years, and consider it a whole medicine chest in or family."

MRS. MATTIE FURGUSON, of Dyron, N. Y., says: "Vinegar Bitters is the best medicine I ever tried; it saved my life."

T. F. BAILEY, of Humboldt, Iowa, says: "Vinegar Bitters cured me of paralysis, ten years ago, and recently it cured me of rheumatism."

MRS. WM. A. DAVIS, of Camden, N. J., says: "I have suffered greatly from indigestion and bowel troubles, and Vinegar Bitters gave me great relief."

JAMES H. DWYER, of Webster, Mass., writes: "I always use Vinegar Bitters as a spring medicine, and have the best of health."

L. COLEMAN, 77 Montgomery st., New York, writes: "I find your Vinegar Bitters a first-class tonic."

No Universal Remedy

has yet been discovered; but, as at least four-fifths of human diseases have their source in Impure Blood, a medicine which restores that fluid from a depraved to a healthy condition comes as near being a universal cure as any that can be produced. Ayer's Sarsaparilla affects the blood in each stage of its formation, and is, therefore, adapted to a greater variety of complaints than any other known medicine.

Boils and Carbuncles,

which defy ordinary treatment, yield to Ayer's Sarsaparilla after a comparatively brief trial.

Mr. C. K. Murray, of Charlottesville, Va., writes that for years he was afflicted with boils which caused him much suffering. These were succeeded by carbuncles, of which he had several at one time. He then began the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and after taking three bottles, the carbuncles disappeared, and for six years he has not had even a pimple.

That insidious disease, Scrofula, is the fruitful cause of innumerable complaints, Consumption being only one of many equally fatal. Eruptions, ulcers, sore eyes, glandular swellings, weak and wasted muscles, a capricious appetite, and the like, are pretty sure indications of a scrofulous taint in the system. Many otherwise beautiful faces are disfigured by pimples, eruptions, and unsightly blotches, which arise from impure blood, showing the need of Ayer's Sarsaparilla to remedy the evil.

All sufferers from blood disorders should give Ayer's Sarsaparilla a fair trial,—avoiding all powders, ointments, and washes, and especially cheap and worthless compounds, which not only fail to effect a cure, but more frequently aggravate and confirm the diseases they are fraudulently advertised to remedy.

"Nearly Everybody Reads It."

The Merchant reads the Chicago Daily News because he must know what's going on in the great business centres of the world, and he can't waste time hunting for it in a "blanket sheet."

The Farmer reads the Chicago Daily News because he makes more than $5.00 a year—one cent a day—by keeping promptly posted on the variations of the market,—he doesn't wait for the slow weekly ans any more.

The Mechanic reads the Chicago Daily News because he knows that even in matters of handicraft the more general intelligence a man has the more he'll earn. The workingman can well afford his daily paper at "one cent a day."

Grandfather reads the Chicago Daily News because it gives all the news, and yet so condensed that it doesn't tire him out to read it. And then, the print is so clear.

Mother reads the Chicago Daily News because she wants to keep up with her husband in general information, and then she particularly enjoys the household hints and things of special interest to women which are in it every day.

Grandmother reads the Chicago Daily News because she still wants to know what's going on. And it's a comfort to see a daily paper in the family that's clean and pure,—one she's not afraid to have "the children see."

The Boys all want the Chicago Daily News because it gives the base ball news so fully,—to say nothing of all the other things boys enjoy. And this year even the boys don't skip the political news.

The Politician always reads the Chicago Daily News because its an impartial paper, and whether he likes its independent views or not, he wants to know the truth. He "supports" his particular party "organ," but when he wants cold facts he reads the CHICAGO DAILY NEWS.

The Girls all read the Chicago Daily News because they're specially interested in its choicy gossips about fashions and home matters, to say nothing about the excellent serial story always running.

The Post Office Review, says: "Nearly everybody who reads the English language in, around and about Chicago, reads the Chicago Daily News." Do you? Its a "short and to the point paper,"—made particularly for busy people, and it costs one cent a day. All newsdealers sell it, and all postmasters forward subscriptions for it at $5.00 a year, or $2.00 for four months. Address

John Bruns has quite a menagerie at his beer garden on East Washington street.

Mr. Geo. DeWald, the dry goods merchant left for New York city Saturday evening.

Misses Grace Jackson and Kate Chapin left Saturday for an extended trip through the east.

The very funny play "A Cold Day" is the attraction at the Temple, Wednesday evening next.

The Schwabs had a jolly picnic at the Tivoli Garden yesterday. The City band discounsed the musical progress.

Bishop Taylor, the great African missionary, arrived this afternoon and will lecture at the M. E. college this evening.

'Twas "a cold day" this morning but that doesn't prevent the Temple from presenting their version of "A Cold Day."

Invitations are out for the marriage of Mr. Thomas Comparet to Miss Jennie Campbin. The wedding will take place on the 25th inst.

Mrs. M. E. Fitzgibbons and daughter, Anna, of Lafayette, are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Stier, of 106 Lafayette street.

The seventh supply well at the water works pumping house is a success. It will require twenty additional wells to supply the demand.

Prof. W. F. Heath returned home Saturday from his extensive western tour. THE SENTINEL has chronicled the honors heaped on the professor.

Manager Gardner, of the "Zo Zo," offers $1,000 to the person that can produce a scene equal to the transformation in the grand spectacular opera, Thursday.

Messrs. E. G. Anderson, Chas. Orff and Henry Waterman left for Oden, Mich., this morning, where they will camp out for two weeks and spend the time in hunting and fishing.

Mr. and Mrs. Anselm Fuelber desire us to return their thanks to their friends and neighbors for kindnesses extended to them during their late sad bereavement in the death of their son.

John H. W. Shaffer has been given a permit to build a store building on lot 2, Wefel's addition, to cost $250, and August Laurent to build a two story frame house on lot 22, McCulloch's addition, to cost $500.

Hoyt's "A Hole in the Ground" was seen at the Temple Saturday night by a good audience. There is nothing to Hoyt's work. There are two or three good people in the party and they amuse us in their specialties, not, however, through any assistance from Mr. Hoyt.

Chancellor J. F. Lang preached a very eloquent sermon at the Cathedral yesterday morning. His plea was for humility and charity in life, seasoned by wholesome Christian faith. At the close he announced his contemplated visit to Rome with Rt. Rev. Bishop Dwenger and invoked the prayerful remembrance of the Cathedral congregation and his friends, promising similar returns in his travels abroad.

Mr. Henry C. Zollinger kindly accepts the republican nomination for county commissioner. Now it is the people's turn and it is very safe to predict that they will not accept Mr. Zollinger. The republicans have nominated fairly strong men for a few county offices not to elect them, but to utilize their strength to advance others. No republican was ever elected to office in Allen county in a presidential year, and none ever will be.

You can save money on drugs and medicines and prescriptions at Mordhurst's Drug Store, No. 74 Calhoun street, sign of revolving wheel in window. d&wlyr.

The capital stock of the D. N. Foster furniture company has been increased from $50,000 to $80,000, making in all 600 shares. This is a growing institution.

Miss May Hover, shortly before her death, fell heir to a $50,000 estate in Ohio. The young lady willed the property to her father, Mr. J. V. Hover, the photographer.

At the last meeting of the First Regiment band the following officers were elected: James Conley, business manager; Samuel Talbot, treasurer; Ervin Noble, secretary; Harry Achenbach, bandmaster.

The bridesmaid and the usher have gone out of fashion for the present. Stylish weddings this fall will be so conducted that the bride and groom shall have no rivals for the attention of the on-lookers.

The Gazette published a snake story yesterday morning, the facts of which, including the names of the parties, were given in THE SENTINEL several days ago. Our neighbor does not keep abreast of the times.

The funeral service of Miss May Hover was held yesterday afternoon at the Baptist church and was attended by such a large concourse of people that many of them were unable to gain an admittance, the aisles and the rear part of the audience room being crowded with the friends of the young lady. Rev. Northrop preached an excellent and pathetic discourse and spoke touchingly of the deceased's virtues and character. A long line of carriages followed the procession to the cemetery, where all that was mortal of the lovable and beloved May Hover were laid to rest in the cold and silent earth. The following young gentlemen acted as pall bearers: Ed. Noll, Charles Kane, Louis Pape, Frank Kelsey, Wm. Buckles and Philip Hochstetter.

H. C. Moderwell Promoted

Mr. H. C. Moderwell, chief clerk in the Nickel Plate freight office, was this morning promoted to the vacancy occasioned by the resignation of Capt. F. H. Barnard, and will assume the duties of local freight and passenger agent at once. Mr. Moderwell is well known to the citizens of Fort Wayne as an honorable, trustworthy gentleman and an agreeable business man. THE SENTINEL can heartily commend the choice from a public stand point.

"It's All Right."

Mr. W. A. Armstrong, of Toledo, was a guest of the Aveline house yesterday. He is secretary of the New York, Mahoning and Western railroad company, and said to THE SENTINEL reporter: "Our bonds have just been placed at New York, our road is beyond probability and we will at once push it to a finish everywhere. You can believe this statement."

A Serious Charge.

Alex Baltshoover, a hostler employed by Mr. J. M. Coombs, is under arrest for burglary and receiving stolen property. He sold to Jacob Clay, a colored man, the clock recently stolen from McCarthy's chair factory on Broadway. He must account for this transaction before the mayor to-morrow morning.

Wait and see the great railroad fair. You cannot afford to miss it.

JOHN M'CAIN.

He Makes a Murderous Assault on His Wife and is Held for Insanity.

A few weeks ago Mr. John McCain, the former proprietor of the "Home" saloon, came home from northern Michigan, where he conducted a small restaurant. He at once took to drinking and got down low enough to beg whisky from saloon to saloon. His spree culminated Saturday night in an attempt to kill his wife. He seized a carving knife and pursued her, but Mrs. McCain fled and summoned assistance.

He was guarded all that night, and yesterday morning went out again, returning after dinner in a beastly state of intoxication.

This led to his arrest, and Sheriff Viberg locked him in the jail hospital. He wept and threatened to take his life, begging piteously for a knife. A friend volunteered to procure a horse pistol or hoist the window for a parachute flight, but McCain was seized with a sudden longing for life and laughed as heartily as he cried a moment before.

At 3 o'clock Esquires Ryan and Harding and Drs. Dills and Swearingen were holding an inquest on McCain to ascertain the state of his mind.

Another commission went out to the poor house to adjudge Mary Klinger, an inmate, insane.

Railroad Thieves.

A stranger is locked up at the police station on a charge of breaking into a freight car at Defiance. He was locked in the car en route and arrested at this point. The railroad men belive that his purpose was robbery.

Saturday afternoon, a Wabash railway detective brought two strangers to this city and lodged them in jail on a charge of robbing a lady passenger on a Wabash train last Saturday.

It is difficult to make a charge against these rascals stick.

Beware of Scrofula

Scrofula is probably more general than any other disease. It is insidious in character, and manifests itself in running sores, pustular eruptions, boils, swellings, enlarged joints, abscesses, sore eyes, etc. Hood's Sarsaparilla expels all trace of scrofula from the blood, leaving it pure, enriched, and healthy.

"I was severely afflicted with scrofula, and over a year had two running sores on my neck. Took five bottles Hood's Sarsaparilla, and am cured." C. E. LOVEJOY, Lowell, Mass.

C. A. Arnold, Arnold, Me., had scrofulous sores for seven years, spring and fall. Hood's Sarsaparilla cured him.

Salt Rheum

Is one of the most disagreeable diseases caused by impure blood. It is readily cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier.

William Spies, Elyria, O., suffered greatly from erysipelas and salt rheum, caused by handling tobacco. At times his hands would crack open and bleed. He tried various preparations without aid; finally took Hood's Sarsaparilla, and now says: "I am entirely well."

"My son had salt rheum on his hands and on the calves of his legs. He took Hood's Sarsaparilla and is entirely cured." J. B. Stanton, Mt. Vernon, Ohio.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Sold by all druggists. $1; six for $5. Made only by C. I. HOOD & CO., Apothecaries, Lowell, Mass.
